Pornography Law Repeal To Be Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President's Commission on Obscenity and Pornography has outlined tentative recommendations calling for repeal of all laws prohibiting adult Americans from purchasing or possessing pornographic films, books and other material.

But the commission said in a preliminary report that local, state and federal laws should protect children from exposure to smut, and that adults should be protected from unsolicited exposure through public displays or unsolicited mail advertisements.

"The commission does not believe, however," says the draft report, "that there is any warrant for the continuation of government controls upon what sexual materials may be made available to adults who wish to read or view such materials."

The recommendations obtained by the Associated Press have not been approved by the 18-member commission which reportedly will meet most of this week before issuing its final report, scheduled for release at the end of August.

The recommendations cover pornographic materials, but not live sex shows. They follow the lead of Denmark which lifted all restrictions against pornography for adults—but not children—last year.

Laws against what American adults can watch or buy are unwarranted, says the draft report, because its studies have found no evidence that pornography causes "crime, juvenile delinquency, other antisocial conduct, sexual or nonsexual deviancy, character disorders or significant emotional disturbances."

Even though there is no finding that pornography is harmful to children, it says, laws against youngsters' exposure to it are justified by the fact that many parents responsible for their welfare—rightly or wrongly—believe it might be harmful to them.

Nixons Return To Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Nixon have returned to the nation's capital after a two-day stay at Camp David in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains.

It was a quiet weekend for the President. He conferred with advisers H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman on both Saturday and Sunday.

Reds Attack 2 Cambodian Base Areas

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — One Communist attack was reported five miles north of Phnom Penh today, while other Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces hit Saang, 24 miles to the south, for the second straight day.

In South Vietnam, 10 Americans were killed and 41 wounded in two ground attacks, mine and booby trap incidents, and two aircraft crashes.

The attack just north of Phnom Penh appeared to be only a minor skirmish, on an outpost at Prek Leap on the Mekong River. A government spokesman said the attackers were driven off with the help of naval boats on the river. But the attack, coupled with another Friday at Prek Luong, slightly less than five miles from Phnom Penh, indicated that the enemy has moved within rocket and artillery range of the capital.

The spokesman said enemy concentrations around Phnom Penh were not as large as they were a month ago, but he said the enemy strength was increasing steadily. For the moment, however, there was no solid indication that the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong were about to launch an offensive against the city.

The spokesman claimed 10 enemy killed at Saang and said fighting continued there today. The district capital, on the Bassac River, has been hit repeatedly since it is on one of the main enemy infiltration routes from Vietnam to the base camp area the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are building up near the Kiri Rom plateau.

New fighting also was reported at Kiri Rom, 55 miles southwest of Phnom Penh. The Cambodian command said a large government patrol was ambushed and suffered heavy casualties, with five killed and 39 wounded. He said the enemy left 39 bodies on the battlefield.

Most of the action in South Vietnam was reported in the northern provinces.

The U.S. Command also announced that the total number of U.S. forces in Vietnam dropped by 350 last week, to 406,350. President Nixon's timetable for withdrawal of American units calls for the total to be reduced to 384,000 men by mid-October.

Governor Irked By Rockfest

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Saying he was "outraged," Michigan Gov. William Milliken today moved to prevent a recurrence of the Goose Lake Rock Festival — a three-day event marked by open selling of drugs and nude bathing.

In Missouri, where he was attending a governors conference, Milliken said he has asked his legal advisor, Joseph T. Thibodeau, to help local officials in their drive to prevent a second festival at Goose Lake Park scheduled for the Labor Day weekend.

No serious illnesses from drug overdoses were reported by show officials. Drug selling was widespread at the festival.

Crayoned signs advertising drugs of various kinds were carried by wandering persons or attached to cars and trucks.

Goose Lake Park officials said there were no acts of violence during the festival. Around 400 private guards were hired to watch the area.

'Nerve Gas Trains' Rolling

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Army plans to embark today upon what it says will be its last mission to ship lethal nerve gas by rail for dumping in the Atlantic Ocean.

Trains carrying 418 concrete and steel jacketed vaults of nerve gas rockets—30 to the vault—were to leave Blue Grass Army Depot near Richmond, Ky., and Anniston, Ala., Army Depot for North Carolina to be loaded aboard a barge. It will be scuttled in waters 16,000 feet deep, 282 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla.

The Army kept the routes secret but said the shipments would move through thinly populated areas. By highway, it is about 540 miles from Anniston and about 645 miles from Richmond to the North Carolina coast.

The Army said there is no danger of leakage from the vaults.

Army chemical experts will accompany the shipments and their mechanical gas-leak detectors will be backed up by 12 rabbits and 12 pigeons, highly sensitive to gas.

Army spokesmen said similar shipments in the future will be unnecessary because the Army is developing a method of decomposing the gas at the military bases where it is stored.

It said detonation of a 60-pound charge of dynamite beneath a vault would not damage it enough to allow gas to escape. The vaults are encased in quarter-inch armor plating.

Congressional sources said the Anniston train will pass through the Georgia cities of Bremen, Griffin, Macon and Athens before angling up through the Carolinas to an ocean terminal at Sunny Point, N.C.

The train is to move no faster than 35 miles per hour. A check of the rails was completed Saturday.

Tragedy Ends Vacation Trip To Inca Ruins

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Forty-nine young American exchange students returning from the Inca ruins at Machu Picchu were reported killed Sunday in the crash of a Peruvian airliner. The Department of Civil Aviation said 99 of the 100 persons aboard died, making it Peru's worst air disaster.

Several other Americans were aboard in addition to the students spending the summer in Peru under the sponsorship of International Fellowship Inc. of Buffalo, N.Y. But their exact number was uncertain.

International Fellowship received from the State Department a list of 49 of its students 14 to 19 years old aboard the plane. But the airline, Lansa, issued a list of 54 Americans aboard which included three other teenagers, a 21-year-old and four older tourists. The airline listed two of the students on International Fellowship's list as Peruvians, and it was thought some of those it listed as American might be Peruvians.

The airline said the Lockheed Electra carried 91 passengers and seven crew members, but later the Aviation Department said there were two more crew members aboard.

One man, the copilot, survived. He was found in the wreckage of the cockpit.

Most of the passengers had flown to Cuzco, the ancient Inca capital 365 miles southeast of Lima, for an excursion to the Inca ruins at nearby Machu Picchu. After the day of sight-seeing, the plane had just taken off from Cuzco for Lima when one of its four turboprop engines failed and the pilot, Capt. Alejandro Calejari, requested permission to return to Cuzco.

The plane crashed into San Jeronimo Hill six miles south of the Cuzco airport and exploded, scattering bodies over a wide area.

Lansa officials said the airline was sending a plane to Cuzco today to bring the bodies to Lima.

International Fellowship said the students, among 400 Americans spending 45 days with Peruvian families, were accompanied by 14 Peruvian youngsters, including Mariel Bedoya Vivanco, 16, daughter of a former Lima mayor.

Officials said the tour was an optional part of the vacation program during which students participate in organized activities while staying with their host families. The company

Senate ABM Foes Near Win

See 51-48 Vote Against Expansion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate drive to stop expansion of the Safeguard antimissile system may be near — or past — the point of victory, an Associated Press survey shows.

Fifty senators said they were either committed to vote against or strongly opposed to an amendment to expand the Safeguard system from two to four sites. Three said they were undecided.

If the 50 remain firm and the three undecided senators vote as they did on the Safeguard proposal last year, the final vote will be 51-48 against expansion — a move that could jeopardize the entire program.

Only 99 senators are expected to vote since Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., is hospitalized. Forty-six senators said they would back the Nixon administration and urge expansion.

President Nixon won a one-vote Senate victory last summer on the initial decision to begin Safeguard deployment. This year, as last, the Senate is so closely divided on the issue that last minute shifts could change the vote tally and determine the outcome.

But if the Senate votes to cut $332 million from the $1.3 billion Safeguard authorization, it could put the Defense Department in the uncomfortable position of justifying the expense of further work on the ABM sites at Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana and Grand Forks Air Force Base in North Dakota.

Bank Robbed At Sardinia

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A man who apparently was waiting inside, held up officials of the First National Bank at Sardinia today and got away with an undetermined amount of money.

Sardinia is about 10 miles northeast of here.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said a man was taken into custody for investigation but had no other details.

Reports were that the man fled in an automobile belonging to Millard Rossetto, the bank president, but the car was abandoned later.

Highway Patrol spokesmen said they had no information as to how the man got into the bank before it opened.

Israelis Hit Lebanon Bases; Suez Front Remains Quiet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli planes attacked Arab guerrilla bases in Lebanon over the weekend, and ground forces battled infiltrators on the Israeli-held Golan Heights. But quiet prevailed along the Suez Canal for the second day of the Egyptian-Israeli cease-fire.

The air attack Sunday on the southwest slopes of Mt. Hermon was in retaliation for guerrilla raids on Israeli frontier settlements and military positions over the weekend, an Israeli spokesman said. A Lebanese army spokesman said the raiders burned crops and knocked out electrical power in three villages known to be guerrilla strongholds—Kfar Shuba, Shaaba and Jersa.

Arab guerrillas in Lebanon fired mortars at an Israeli border settlement in Northern Galilee Sunday night, wounding one of the settlers, the military command in Tel Aviv said today. Israeli troops returned the fire, he said.

Guerrillas from Jordan claimed killing or wounding 20 Israelis in an attack Sunday on military positions five miles north of the Dead Sea. But a military spokesman in Tel Aviv said no Israeli casualties were reported in the incident. The Israeli command said two others captured Saturday after a small force from the Syrian-based Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, which opposes it. Both sides said one child was killed and nine other persons were wounded, and each blamed the other.

Commandos from the Popular Front clashed twice last week with guerrillas from Action, another pro-Egyptian command group in Jordan. Two men were killed and 10 wounded in those clashes.

In Amman, the Jordanian capital, machine-gun battles broke out between the Arab Palestine Organization, which supports Egypt's acceptance of the cease-fire, and the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, which opposes it. Both sides said one child was killed and nine other persons were wounded, and each blamed the other.

U.S. And Russia Widen Commercial Air Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators have reached tentative agreement to expand commercial airline service between the two nations, but diplomatic sources report America has rejected a Soviet bid to permit transcontinental flights over both nations.

The expansion would permit Pan American World Airways to land at Leningrad and Aeroflot, the Soviet government owned airline, to serve Washington, D.C. Flights currently are limited to New York and Moscow.

The Russians reportedly expressed an interest in extending their existing route to the West Coast and beyond. In return, they were described as willing to allow Pan American to fly across Siberia to the Pacific.

But the United States turned down the transcontinental proposal on grounds it was not commercially justified, sources said. They added the United States believes expanded air service should be based on commercial—rather than political—reasons.

Besides permitting the U.S.

and Soviet flag carriers to land at Leningrad and Washington, the agreement also would permit the two carriers to step up the number of flights from two to six a week.

A final U.S. okay of the deal is being held up pending Soviet action to clear away some difficulties that have face Americans since the flights began two years ago, the sources said.

The U.S.-Soviet flights were inaugurated in 1968 after drawn-out negotiations as part of the decade-old U.S.-Soviet cultural exchange program designed to improve relations between the two super powers.

In the U.S. opinion, the Soviets have refused to grant sufficient maintenance and service facilities for the American airlines or provide adequate quarters for Pan American personnel living in Moscow.

U.S. aviation inspectors also have run into problems getting Soviet visas or entry permits. Aeroflot also has received a passenger advantage because of Soviet pressure on its citizens to fly via the government airline.

GOP Governors Open Meet, Eye Upcoming Elections

By WALTER R. MEARS

AP Political Writer

LAKE OF THE OAKS, Mo. (AP) — Republican governors generally rate President Nixon's popularity high among the voters, and they hope some of it will rub off on their own campaigns in an autumn race against odds which favor Democratic state house gains.

Democrats forecast inroads into the 32-18 majority the Republicans now enjoy among governors, and the chairman of the GOP Governors Association acknowledged the arithmetic favors that outcome.

"We have a very difficult road with 35 governors up and 24 of them now Republican," said Gov. Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania, the chairman. "The odds are against us. We're going to do everything we can to fight those odds."

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri, a Democrat, said Democrats could fashion a state-house comeback as dramatic as that achieved by Republicans after their landslide defeats six years ago, when Lyndon B. Johnson swept to the White House.

With elections three months away, the state executive began three days of business sessions at the 62nd National Governors conference in the guarded luxury of a lakeside resort.

Extraordinary security precautions gave a garrison atmosphere to their secluded retreat. Hearnes said there had been no threats of disruption, and called the picket duty and patrols of National Guardsmen and police simply "the old ounce of prevention."

The first controversy facing the governors is a proposal that they recommend broadening of the federal highway trust fund so that the money could be spent for subways and other modes of transportation, as well as for roadbuilding.

Highway interests aimed a barrage of telegrams at the governors, urging rejection of a proposed policy statement asking Congress to let the states make transfers from the transportation fund.

Soviet 'Mercy Flights' For Spying

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union disguised military aircraft as civilian planes and apparently collected radar and photo-intelligence data about U.S. military bases and North American coastal areas during mercy flights to Peru last month, defense sources report.

The sources said these judgments were based on routes flown by the planes and photographs and ground observations of Soviet AN12 and AN22 transports refueling at a base used by the U.S. Air Force and Navy at Keflavik, Iceland.

The Soviets declared the flights were to ferry emergency supplies to earthquake-devastated Peru.

Pictures show the planes were equipped with radar boosters and wing antennas that experts said usually are found on military rather than commercial-type Russian planes.

Also, ground observers reported seeing camera ports closing as Soviet planes landed at Keflavik after making wide, sweeping approaches that gave a broad view of the base.

An AN12 "Pathfinder" plane bound for Peru also was reported to have flown over the Kinley Naval Air Station in Bermuda, an important U.S. Navy anti-submarine base.

Defense sources said a close-up view of the Soviet aircraft on the ground at Keflavik indicated they had been dressed up rather hastily to look like civilian aircraft by painting on the insignia and markings of Aeroflot, the Russian International airline.

However, the AN12s had gun turrets in their tails.

The AN22s, huge planes somewhat comparable to the American C5, had windows in the nose which experts said could be used by bombardiers.

This was the first indication the Russians considered AN22s a dual purpose plane for use as transports and possibly as bombers.

Sources said the radar boosters could be employed either for navigation or radar mapping.

They suggested the Russians took the opportunity presented by the mercy flights to get good radar reference mapping information of some of the North American coast line. One stop en route to Peru was Halifax, Nova Scotia.

The sources discounted the possibility the Soviet planes would get much valuable information about the U.S. East Coast because their routes carried them too far out to sea.

Some U.S. strategists are concerned because the 8,000 mile flights to Peru demonstrated the Russian capability to fly long distances with huge aircraft like the AN22.

These analysts said the AN22 can carry sizeable missiles.

Burger Urges Revamping Of Judiciary

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger proposed today creation of a council representing all branches of the federal government to bring the nation's court system up to date.

"In the supermarket age," he said, "we are like a merchant trying to operate a cracker barrel corner grocery store with the methods and equipment of 1900."

Burger proposed updating of the judicial system and warned of expecting too much of the federal courts in his first state of the judiciary message to the American Bar Association.

The white-haired jurist said the courts need more money, judges and trained administrators and a streamlining of their trial and appeals processes to retain public confidence.

He questioned the priorities of a nation that spends $200 million to develop the C5A airplane and $128 million on its federal judicial system.

For at least 50 years, he said, the federal court system has had steadily increasing burdens. "Some of this," he said, "is because of new laws and decisions and some because of a tendency that is unique to America to look to the courts to solve all problems."

At the same time, Burger said, much of the judicial machinery has grown obsolete. Burger told the lawyers and judges they should give urgent consideration to asking Congress to create a new judiciary council which would report to all three branches of the federal government on a wide range of matters affecting federal courts.

For example, he said, it could report on case loads in particular districts, propose creation of temporary judgeships to meet urgent situations and study the present jurisdiction of federal courts.

Burger said the council could have six members, with two appointed by the president, two by Congress and two by the U.S. Judicial Conference, which he heads.

Sheriff's Officers, Police Check Variety Of Complaints

City police and Fayette County sheriff's deputies investigated a variety of non-traffic complaints over the weekend which involved incidents ranging from larceny to vandalism.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Robert McArthur arrested three members of a local rock and roll band Monday in connection with the investigation of a vandalism complaint Friday night.

Charged with painting "unsightly" (obscene) words on a highway and disposing of beer cans along the public right of way were Ronald Underwood, 21, of 904 Lakeview Ave., Richard Reeves, 18, of 1014 S. Hinde St., and Greg Stone, 19, of 433 E. Elm St. All three are members of the "SMD" band, Deputy McArthur said.

The incident occurred on Locust Grove Road. Deputy McArthur said the trio was questioned Friday night and the arrests were made Monday morning.

SHERIFF'S deputies recovered a check-writing machine taken in the Friday night burglary of the Holly Farms grain elevator at Bloomingburg.

Officers said two teen-age boys, walking along the lane which runs between the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and Bloomingburg Cemetery, found the machine Sunday. It was undamaged, officers said.

Daryl Rumer, 613 Fourth St., reported to city police that a lawnmower valued at $79.95 was taken from his yard sometime between Wednesday and Friday.

Evelyn Fredrick, 912 Willard St., told police that vandals broke the glass in a front door at 4:30 a.m. Sunday. Damage was estimated at $10.

Also in the city, an E. Elm Street woman reported to city police that her estranged husband held her against her will all night Saturday and assaulted her by kicking her in the stomach. The incident was referred to attorneys since the couple is seeking a divorce, police said.

Danny Penwell, 1148 E. Paint St., reported to police that vandals spray-painted vulgar words on his 1961 model car while it was parked at the rear of his house after 11 p.m. Saturday. Damage was estimated at $15.

Mrs. Donald Stewart, Rt. 2, Washington C. H., called Sheriff's deputies at 2:10 a.m. Saturday to report an attempted break-in at her Lakewood Hills home. Officers said someone attempted to enter the house by prying a door latch with a screwdriver.

Sheriff Don Thompson said he was called at 1:36 p.m. Friday to the Greenfield-Sabina Road near White Oak Grove Cemetery where a car was off the road. Upon arrival, he found Ronald Kelly, 21, Rt. 1, Hillsboro, slumped over in his car, seriously ill.

Kelly was admitted to Fayette Memorial Hospital in serious condition. His car was not damaged nor was there any other property damage the sheriff said.

been completely sealed, and the manager's office showed it.

About midnight Saturday Manager Clarence A. Christman was called at his home and told that the office was flooding. Monday morning there still was water on his floors and the ceiling was water-marked.

THE BPW has reported to Mrs. Leonard Korn, Red Cross chapter executive secretary, that 150 men and women have agreed to donate blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank when the mobile unit is here Friday.

Mrs. Korn said this is a good start but that at least 200 volunteers are needed to assure the 150-pint quota. So, walk-ins and employees of the industries, who have contributed so generously in the past, are being counted on.

The Bloodmobile will be at the First Presbyterian Church from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Friday. Babysitters will be there, and transportation will be provided for those who request it.

tion scarcely four months, also offered some new proposals, giving special attention to the problems of land use.

It said the federal government should: —Use existing project-approval authority to encourage cluster zoning and timed development.

—Direct federal sewer and water grants and open space acquisition "toward communities or project areas which will use them to control development rather than to those which merely respond to uncontrolled growth."

—Use home mortgage and interest subsidy programs "to encourage the proper siting and environmental compatibility" of new residential subdivisions.

—Emphasize acquisition of small parks and natural areas near cities.

—Protect "areas of special ecological significance."

Such recommendations, the report said, are only "aspects of a strategy" requiring broader development.

Claim King Was Swinger With Women

NEW YORK (AP) — Time magazine says the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. muted his criticism of the FBI after its director, J. Edgar Hoover, confronted him with wiretaps revealing King's alleged extramarital activities.

In an article discussing a new book about King, "The King God Didn't Save," by novelist John Williams, Time gives its version of a 1964 meeting between King and Hoover.

Time says Williams reports the FBI began tapping King's telephone and bugging his hotel rooms in 1963 and while it uncovered no subversion it "did turn up an astonishing amount of information about King's extensive and vigorous sexual activities."

Time continues: "Williams has the correct outline of the FBI tape story. What he does not have is precisely what happened at the celebrated meeting between FBI Director Hoover and King in 1964."

"Hoover, Time learned, explained to King just what damaging private detail he had on the tapes and lectured him that his morals should be those befitting a Nobel Prize winner. He also suggested that King should tone down his criticism of the FBI. King took the advice. His decline in black esteem followed, a decline scathingly narrated by Williams."

The fact that the FBI had been tapping King's telephone was disclosed last year by FBI agent Robert Nichols in a Houston, Tex., courtroom where boxer Cassius Clay was seeking to vacate a sentence for refusal to be inducted into the Army. One of the monitored conversations was between King and Clay.

Whitney Donates Money To Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Publisher John Hay Whitney has donated $15 million to Yale University to finance the construction of residential units for 600 men and women.

A spokesman for the university said Sunday the new housing will help alleviate overcrowding caused when Yale became coeducational last fall. He described Whitney's donation as one of the largest individual donations ever received by the school.

Nosedive

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices nosedived lower this morning as trading continued to be slow.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks sank 8.35 points or 1.15 per cent to 717.25.

Decliners led advancing issues by more than 2 to 1.

Analysts could point to no particular reason for the market's decline. They did say, however, the market probably would make no significant moves until trading picked up again.

Traditionally, trading always has been slow in August, and they said the year probably would be no exception, with no pickup in volume occurring before Labor Day.

Some brokers said the market was being influenced more by economic factors now than by general news developments from the Middle or Far East. They said investors were uncertain about the state of the economy and about the rate of inflation which some economic indicators have shown to be cooling off.

2nd Man Dies In Cincinnati After Shootout

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 56-year-old Cincinnati man has become the second person to die after being wounded by a private security guard in separate shootings here in recent days.

Floyd Cureton, shot five times Friday night at a food market, died Sunday at General Hospital. He had been charged with assault with a deadly weapon. Police said no charges have been filed against the guard.

Robert Henry, 43, of Cincinnati died Friday night from wounds received Thursday night at the Greyhound Bus Station. Police said Henry was pointing a revolver at three drivers, and was shot by a security guard who was not charged.

In another shooting incident, police were searching for a man who opened fire on a crowd standing along a street here Saturday night. Candester Dismukes, 41, of the Queen City was fatally wounded.

ALL ABOUT BEANS

There are beans to suit the taste of almost every home gardener. Some, such as snap beans, are widely known. Others get little action, largely because they have eluded the notice of your favorite earth-worker.

You may know the snap beans as the string beans, even though the course strings long have been bred out of this vegetable. A few favorite varieties are Tenderpod, Stringless Green Pod, Topcrop, Tendergreen, Bountiful and Wade, among the green types.

For yellow wax beans, we suggest Pencil Pod, Surecrop, Cherokee and Brittle Wax.

Turning to climbers, or pole varieties, the most popular, as it has been for many years, remains Kentucky Wonder. Others are White Creaseback, Lazy Wife's Pole Bean, McCaslan, and Kentucky Wonder Wax.

Limas are less familiar. There are bush types including Henderson's, Burpee's Improved, Dixie Butterpeas, Fordhook No. 232 and Early Giant. Pole limas include Florida Speckled Butter, King of the Garden and Sieva.

CHANCES are most gardeners have heard little about the next few kinds. If you like to grow your own baking beans there are these, usually sold as shell beans: Dwarf Horticultural, Wirt Marrowfat, Red Kidney and Improved White Navy. The broadbean has large, flat pods and makes very good eating. Frostproof is one of the best but must be planted early because it needs 120 days to reach maturity.

A variety that grows continuously (within climate limits) is the broad-podded Italian Romano pole, good as a snap or shell bean.

A novelty type is the good-flavored, tender Yard Long Bean, with pods three feet long. Pick them real young. Fava is a hardy substitute

Lunch Hour Wedding; Then Back To Work

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — It was a wedding, but the usual traditions had some variations. Fish, tacos and watermelon were eaten in place of cake. Iced tea was a substitute for punch.

There wasn't a reception for the bride and groom, James Lindop and Bonnie Jennings. The newlyweds worked at a registration table at the University of Texas at El Paso before and after the wedding.

Lindop is assistant director of admissions at UTEP and his bride is a secretary to the dean of the university's graduate school.

They were married during lunch hour, and afterwards returned to the campus to help register students for the second summer session.

where it is too cold for limas. This large bush bears fine green shell beans. The shells are not good eating.

Then there are Chinese Mung, used for bean sprouts; Bansei, an edible soy bean; Garbanzo, or chick pea, popular in the southwest and used in soup and turkey stuffing; and Scarlet Runner and the purple-flowering Hyacinth Bean ornamentals that produce beans that can be eaten if picked young.

Beans are rather easy to raise. They prefer a reasonably sweet, friable soil.

Spade the earth at least a full spade depth and enrich it with some humus. Don't add too much nitrogen, since beans make their own.

INSTANT PLANT INFORMATION

National coordination of botanical information — to provide computerized cataloging of all United States plants — will be tested this summer. Participating will be the New York Botanical Gardens, the Smithsonian Institution and the Missouri Botanical Gardens.

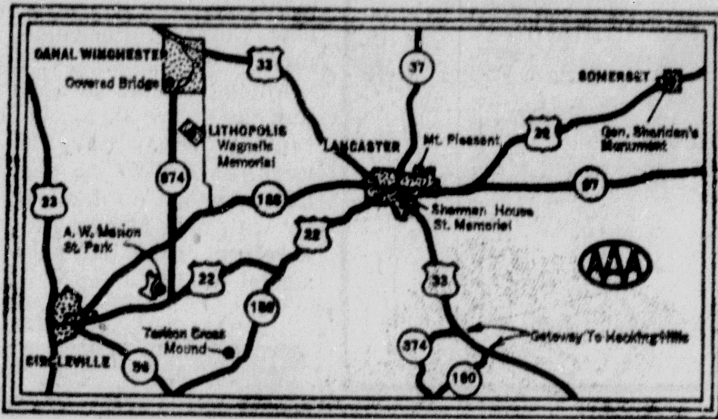

Success would mean instant retrieval of information that now requires long and laborious effort. The computer would provide immediate answers to many questions.

Facts to be computerized will be taken from files in the herbaria (collections of plants and plant parts) of the three participating institutions.

Let's Tour Ohio

Interesting Nearby Areas

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of short tours of Ohio travel attractions prepared by the Fayette County Automobile Club for The Record-Herald.

There are many attractions on a tour between Lancaster and Circleville, so plan plenty of time to stop and enjoy them.

Ohio community festivals rate among the nation's best, and it saves its largest for last.

Billed as the "biggest free show on earth," the Circleville Pumpkin Show is set for Oct. 21-24. Upwards of 300,000 visitors will jam Circleville (pop. 11,000) to see five parades, contests, displays and entertainment, and try the pumpkin made into an almost unending array of foods from burgers to waffles to ice cream.

Among three Lancaster stops is the Sherman State Memorial, the birthplace and early home of William Tecumseh Sherman, Civil War general, and his brother, Sen. John S. Sherman, author of the Sherman Antitrust Act. It is well preserved and authentically furnished. Open 9:30 to 5, except Monday. Admission is charged.

In the city's excellent Rising Park is Mount Pleasant rock, 250 feet high and with two acres of flat surface, used by Indians and early settlers as a lookout and defensive fortress. Just west off U. S. 22 is President's Half Acre, a private, walled cemetery, deeded to every U. S. president since 1838 by the will of Nathaniel Wilson, a pioneer settler.

AT LITHOPOLIS is Wagnalls Memorial, dedicated to A. K. Wagnalls of publishing fame. The library, which contains rare books and writings and contemporary paintings, is open 1 to 5 daily, 7 to 9 Monday and Wednesday. Organ recitals are held 3 to 5 Sunday, and 7:30 to 9 Friday and Saturday.

Many covered bridges dot this area, and one can be crossed just off Ohio 674 near Canal Winchester.

Other stops could include the monument to Civil War General Phil Sheridan at Somerset; Cross Mound Memorial at Tarleton, including the cross effigy and five smaller mounds nearby; and A. W. Marion State Park near Circleville, offers camping, boating, fishing and picnicking.

The Hocking Hills are just south off U. S. 33 and in early October will be ablaze with fall colors.

The AAA club suggests this routing to the tour area: From Washington C. H., take US 22 into the tour area.

The largest airborne invasion in history was the Anglo-American assault of three divisions near Arnhem, Netherlands, in 1944.

The world percentage of illiteracy has been reliably estimated at between 45 and 55 per cent.

Mountain Climbing 'Prof' Runs 10 Miles Every Day

CHICAGO (AP) — Climbing Pikes Peak is only a run around the block for Edwin H. Paget who does it to stay fit.

Paget, who is as coy about his age as a woman, says he is between 67 and 75. From Raleigh, N. C., he is known as the mountain climbing professor of North Carolina State University.

Paget, who stopped in Chicago en route to the Colorado mountains, said he doesn't see how some folks stay alive when they don't do anything physically.

"Everyone ought to run 10 miles a day," he said. "If you don't do anything, 80 per cent of your body gets no oxygen because the capillaries aren't opened."

Paget says he stays in physical condition by running two hours every day. He said

RUNNING ROUTINE—Edwin H. Paget, who aims to be between 67 and 75-years-old, stays in condition by running two hours every day. By the time he reaches his 100th birthday, he hopes he will have climbed Pikes Peak 1,000 times.

he doesn't jog. He runs. "I'm no more tired than when I started," he said. "It's just routine."

PROF. PAGET, an instructor in speech, said he started running up Pikes Peak near Manitou Springs, Colo., in 1919. In his first climb in 1970, he will have run up the 14,110 foot mountain 421 times.

"On my 75th birthday," Paget said, "I plan to try running up the Peak five times in a day."

He said he sped up the mountain on foot four times in a single day in 1962. Paget's route up the mountain is nine miles by the Cog Road or 13½ miles by the Trail Path. He rides down the mountain in a car "because there is no exercise in going down the mountain."

By the time he celebrates his 100th birthday he hopes he will be able to say he has climbed the Peak 1,000 times. "I don't believe I've reached my peak of ability as yet," he said. "The older one gets, the more physical effort he should exert," he added.

"I believe if men will run and not jog — starting slowly at first — they will be better off physically," he said.

Bar To Undue Snooping

The Internal Revenue Service's abortive attempt to find out who reads what illustrates an important point. This point is a variant of the old admonition that citizens must be eternally vigilant against abuses of governmental power.

Agencies of the government may be acting with commendable purpose, yet still be open to charges of abuse of authority. Even the best of motives cannot justify unwarranted invasion of individual privacy.

In the case alluded to above, IRS agents had gone to libraries in several cities to learn who had checked out certain books or other materials on subjects of concern to them. The trouble with this sort of blanket approach is that the net gathers in not only actual or potential law violators, but also citizens exercising their entirely legitimate right to read and view whatever they please.

It is good news that the Treasury Department, perhaps acting in response to censure by persons concerned about invasion of privacy, has now forbade agents' undertaking such fishing expeditions in public libraries. Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy put it this way in a letter to Sen. Sam J. Ervin of North Carolina, who expressed concern about the matter:

"Treasury strongly opposes any of its law enforcement agents surveying or engaging in a general search of any body of records to determine which citizens may read a particular publication, listened to a particular recording, or viewed specific pictorial matter. This position has been stated to our field offices." That should slam the door on an avenue of inquiry which posed serious dangers of undue federal interference in the lives of private citizens.

The Shifting Fortunes Of Right-To-Work

THESE DAYS.... By John Chamberlain

You lose one, you win one. The National Right-to-Work Organization was in southern California the other day when some 75 per cent of the table grape growers, bowing to the pressure of the big chain stores that had grown tired of being picketed for three or four years by "union" men who included a fair number of hippie types, finally capitulated to Cesar Chavez's United Farm Workers Organizing Committee and signed compulsory union shop contracts.

But the Right-to-Work boys won big in Congress when House and Senate conferees agreed to drop the union shop provision from the postal reform legislation that will transfer the mail authority to an independent government agency with a non-Cabinet postmaster general.

The capitulation of the grape growers amounts to selling their own employees down the river, for the workers in the San Joaquin valley had refused to give Chavez a majority through five years of argumentation.

It was the eastern, urban United States that did the grape pickers in. Unable to win in the vineyards by legitimate persuasion, Chavez turned to the supermarkets of the big cities.

THERE HAPPENS to be a stereo-type of the migrant worker; numerous investigatory committees have spread the word about the disease and exploitation which are the normal lot of the migratory field hand. Undoubtedly the stereotype contains its large elements of truth.

But the point about the grape pickers of the Delano table grape area of the San Joaquin valley is that they aren't migrants. Most of them have year-around jobs in the vineyards, and have been making good money in good circumstances.

The patrons of the big eastern supermarkets couldn't know this, nor could the well-meaning but deplorably innocent members of the clergy who have the stay-at-home Delano grape pickers and the wandering field hands of the eastern seaboard states and Michigan all mixed up in their minds.

Guide To Good Health By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

ARE THERE any new ways to prevent the bed sores that we find so frequently in the elderly patients at our nursing home?

Miss C. S. C., Washington

Dear Miss C.: Pressure sores remain one of the severe threats to the health of all people confined to bed for a long period.

In a recent article, I pointed out that good nursing care, frequent changes of position, and lubrication of the skin are helpful in the prevention of these pressure sores.

I have just seen a remarkable device known as the Stryker Floation Pad. It contains a highly elastic substance that adds a much needed safety factor to the problems of the bedridden.

The Stryker Pad can be used both in prevention and in part of the intensive care after surgery for the control of these ulcers.

The Floation Pad can be used to protect the buttocks, the heels and the elbows, all areas subjected to weight and pressure in the bedridden and the wheel chair patient.

The pad is 16 inches square. It contains a special silicone gel, covered by a thin extremely elastic membrane. It protects bony areas of the body by acting as a thick layer of artificial fat tissue.

Preventative nursing care is the key to reducing these unnecessary complications of bedridden and wheel chair patients.

Do all people past the age of 50 have arthritis of the bone? Whether they do or not, I have it and wonder if this just keeps progressing.

Mrs. J.K. Idaho

Dear Mrs. K.: I assume that what you mean by "arthritis of the bone" is osteoarthritis. This is a disorder of joints which occurs frequently as we grow older. Actually, it is the result of mechanical pressure on the joints which takes place by the normal use of our limbs.

The condition is not a serious one, and only rarely is it disabling or crippling. It may take some of us a little longer to get the "cricks" out of our body after we have been in one position for too long.

It is suggested that people who are driving an automobile for a long period should get out and limber up their joints, their muscles, and increase their blood circulation.

Maintaining a good weight, gentle massage, and heat can bring relief from the discomfort of this type of arthritis. Some of the new medicines now available are remarkably effective in controlling the pain.

SPEAKING OF OUR HEALTH: The elderly or infirm should not lock themselves in the bathroom. A sign on the door, for modesty, is sufficient.

The Gothic novel is a type characterized by horror, violence, supernatural effects and a taste for the medieval, usually set against a background of Gothic architecture, especially a gloomy and isolated castle. The genre originated in England with Horace Walpole's "Castle of Otranto."

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

67 Year-Old Romeo A Bird To Watch

DEAR ABBY: I cannot remain silent after reading about that 67-year-old man making a play for his 88-year-old sister-in-law. This man needs help all right. What he needs is a woman who is ready, willing and able. I'd guess that his wife is able, but she is neither ready nor willing. The fact that the object of his affections is an 88-year-old woman is perhaps unusual, but it sets no precedent. And I'll tell you something else, too. Eighty-eight-year-old Mama may not be as dismayed by his attentions as is her daughter. I was a good man at 67, and still lack a lot of being dead at 79, and I resent your inferring that a 67-year-old man is a doddering old dodo.

Your answer, "Speak to the man as you would to a 'naughty boy,'" irked me.

Dear Abby, just wait until you are 67 and see if you want some patronizing person talking to you as if you are a 10-year-old "naughty girl." Very truly yours,

STILL ALIVE AT 79

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for writing. I am aware that Cupid doesn't work with a calendar, and I know that a 67-year-old man (or woman) can have a lively interest in romance. But when a man that age tries to take improper liberties with his 88-year-old sister-in-law, I say, he is neither healthy nor normal, and this bird needs help—and watching!

DEAR ABBY: I am a hair-dresser in one of the better shops in town. The tips here run a dollar for a shampoo and set, so you know our clientele isn't exactly cheap.

We have a money-hungry operator here I'll call "Susie" who talks her customers into "conditioners," treatments and color, whether they need it or not. She brags that she sells her customers haircuts, then a perm, followed by another haircut (cutting all the perm off), followed by another perm, and so on. She pulls every trick in the book to run up the customers' bill. She makes the rest of us look like a bunch of pikers.

Now Susie has a new one. She has a piggy bank in her booth with a sign over it, "SEND SUSIE TO JAMAICA." We think this is pretty crummy. What do you think?

THE OTHER OPERATORS

DEAR OPERATORS: I think all you operators ought to buy Susie the ticket! (One way.)

DEAR ABBY: How important are table manners? I am married to a very fine young man who is kind and considerate, and I really do love him, but Abby, his table manners are unbelievable! We've been married only 4 months, and I admit I noticed this before we were married, but I thought I could change him later.

He eats just like an animal. He piles so much food on his plate that it slops over the edges, and soon it's all over the tablecloth. He fills his mouth full, chews with his mouth half open, and he eats like someone is going to take the food away from him. He doesn't use a napkin. He wipes his mouth with his bread.

Naturally, I don't invite anyone for dinner. Is there a book that tells how to eat properly? I hate to nag him, and little hints like, "Please slow up, Honey," or, "Please close your mouth when you chew, Darling," don't seem to get through to him. Except for this one fault, he's a wonderful guy.

FRAZZLED NERVES

DEAR FRAZZLED: There are books to teach one which fork to use, but your husband needs more than that. Will all the love and kindness you can muster, give him a palatable eating lesson, and teach him everything he needs to know. And if he's a "wonderful" as you say he is, he'll thank you for it.

Curbstone Comments

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato: What is it women really want?

This question has created a great deal of honest male bewilderment in the wake of the new women's liberation movement.

Among the stated aims of the movement are these: child care centers, equal pay for equal work, an end to job discrimination, abortion on demand, equality with men at every level, and a refusal to be treated as mere sexual objects.

While some of these aims are laudable, and some debatable, others probably aren't even desired by a majority of women themselves.

"I don't want to be put on a par with men," said a practical unmarried young lady of my acquaintance. "Then I'd have to do everything myself. I like the system as it works now. If I need something done, I can get some guy to do it for me."

What puzzles the average man most, however, is why women should want to be equal with him when he already feels he is unequal to them. Do they want to turn the clock backward?

The liberation-seeking ladies protest the chauvinism of the American male, but to the men of the rest of the world the American man is an object of ridicule for what they feel is his abject servility to women.

While he is still waddling around in his diapers, a little boy is able to punch a toy-stealing little girl in the mouth as if she were just another ordinary human being.

But in kindergarten he is taught that little girls are superior and extraordinary human beings made of delicate fibers, spanked into saluting them, and he goes on saluting them until the end of his days. The female sex gains an edge on him if never loses.

It is not men but women who have the better union in America.

A man is also expected to marry a woman when she wants him to, name his kids after her side of the family, and work himself to death earning the money to buy her a bigger car, a nicer home, more expensive vacation trips, and a better hair dryer than the wife next door has.

When he does die, it is further expected of him that he will have had the gallantry and foresight to leave her enough money so that she can spend comfortably, if not luxuriously, the seven or eight years of widowhood she will enjoy before joining him in his tomb—the one she chose, not him.

Does all this sound like he treated her like a mere sexual object?

What do women really want? There are days when the average man feels that what they want is "all there is—and what-ever is left."

Whatever they want, men don't have it. They've been giving everything they had to women for quite some time now.

SHAPED shirtdress from the "Wear-Now" Spectator collection by Swirl is in a cheery red and white plaid of polyester and cotton, with placket front, pointed collar, roll sleeves and easy skirt.

Seminary Students Wed; Will Reside In Cincinnati

Two seven-branch candleabra entwined with greenery made a background for the marriage of Miss Cheryl Diane Steele and Gary L. Boys when they exchanged marriage vows at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in a candlelight ceremony in First Christian Church.

Family pews were marked with satin bows and leather leaf. A single-branch candleabra was in the center from which the bride and groom lit the candle to show unity in Christ. A kneeling bench was also in the center.

The Rev. Ray Russell performed the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Steele 301 N. Main St. and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Boys, 7810 Tances Drive, Cincinnati.

Mrs. Coyt Stookey, organist, and Jeff Sheridan, vocalist, presented a prelude of music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an embroidered white satin organza gown with full bishop sleeves. Pearls embellished the waistband sash and neckline. Streamers of satin ribbon and pearls fell from the back of the waist to the hemline. The deep cuffs were accented with pearl buttons. A coronet crown of pearls held the fingertip veil of bridal illusion. She carried a cascade of sweetheart roses and carnations, surrounding an orchid, in the center.

Dianne Holland, maid of honor, wore a floor-length gown of mint green sunward batiste flopped with tiny pink roses by Rosewood. It featured an empire waist with pink satin bow and streamers, square neckline and puffed sleeves of green dotted Swiss. She wore a band of miniature pink carnations in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of pink miniature carnations and pink baby's breath with pink streamers.

Bridesmaids Debbie Holland, Jeri Maust, Brenda Oesterle and Rhonda Wilson, all friends of the bride, wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor. Kelly Steele, sister of the bride was junior bridesmaid, and Julie Kolpp, of Springfield, niece of the groom, was flower girl. They wore gowns like those of the other attendants. The flower girl carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Jay Steele, brother of the bride, was the ringbearer.

Mrs. Steele chose an aqua shirtwaist dress of satin and chiffon stripes, with wide collar, iridescent rhinestone buttons and belt, with matching accessories, and a tea rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink sheath with matching accessories and a white rose corsage.

Larry Clinkenbeard, of Carlisle, Ky., a friend of the groom, served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Mike, Steve and Kevin Boys, brothers of the groom, Doug Steele, brother of the bride, and Wally Parsley. Brent Boys, a young brother of the groom, lit the candles for the ceremony and also seated the mothers of the bride and groom.

Hostesses for the reception in the social room at the church, were the Misses Myckki Callender, Nancy Campbell, Jane Ann Frederick, Cheryl Reeves and Marilyn Shafer, all of Washington C. H., and Miss Roberta Apperson, of McConnellsville. Miss Tammy Holbrook served at the guest book.

The bride's table featured a five-tiered cake topped with pink and white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Boys, a 1969 graduate of Miami Tace High School, will be a sophomore at Cincinnati Bible Seminary, majoring in Christian education. She is employed this summer at Steele's Data Processing.

Mr. Boys, a senior at Cincinnati Bible Seminary, is studying for the ministry. He is currently the youth minister at First Christian Church here. For going away the bride was wearing a mint green and white A-line frock with matching accessories. Upon their return they will reside on Grand Ave., Cincinnati.

Q. — I often see the terms "close grain" and "open grain" in reference to different kinds of wood. Exactly what do they mean?

A. — While both terms have reference to the annual growth rings of the tree from which the wood was cut, the common usage of "close grain" is fine textured wood with closely spaced pores; that of "open grain" is coarse textured wood with large pores.

Q. — You seem to give advice about everything except using a lathe. I bought a second-hand lathe and have been watching your questions and answers to see if I could pick up some tips about it. I am especially interested in making wooden bowls.

A. — Questions about lathes are few and far between, which is a good thing, because nobody can learn to use one from a few sentences of advice. You need a book of directions or first-hand instruction from someone who knows how to operate such a machine. Or, preferably, both.

Nearly all lathe manufacturers put out detailed printed material on how to use their machines. Get the manufacturer's name from the machine you have and write to him.

Also send along whatever other information there is on the machine's nameplate. If that isn't practical, you'll find that your local library or bookstore has one or more books on the subject.

Q. — I have the plans for making one of those rolling carts on which to serve refreshments, but it doesn't tell how to finish the wood. I know how to handle all parts of the cart, but would like to know what to use on the top tray so that it won't be harmed by spilled liquids. Will ordinary varnish do?

A. — One way is to use a plastic laminate glued to a piece of plywood, which will give you a top similar to that of many kitchen and dining room tables. But if you want a varnish finish, go to a well-stocked wood finishing store and buy what is generally called "bar varnish."

It is specially formulated to withstand liquids and general abuse. Since all stores carrying paints and varnishes don't sell it, you may have to go to several places to get it.

Q. — What is the proper mix to use for a concrete walk outside the house?

A. — One part of cement to two and one-quarter parts of sand and three parts of gravel. Use five gallons of water to each large sack of cement. But adjust accordingly if the sand is extra wet or extra dry — a little less water if it's very wet, a little more water if it's very dry.

Q. I plan to make a picket fence. The posts I intend to use are 5 feet in length. How much of each post should be below ground? I intend to set them in concrete.

A. — The holes should be 2 feet deep. If you have many posts to set, better use a posthole digger.

Q. — In making a kitchen work table with a plastic laminated top how high should it be?

A. — From 32 to 36 inches, depending on the height of the person who will be using it the most.

Q. — I seem to have a knack for estimating the amount of paint incorrectly. I either have a lot left over or don't have enough. Since I intend to paint a couple of rooms soon, can you tell me how to make at least an approximate estimate of how much paint I'll need?

A. — Take the measurements of the room to be painted. For walls, multiply the length of each wall by its height and you'll have the number of square feet to be painted. Ceilings usually can be measured by simply measuring the floor. Generally, one gallon of paint will cover about 500 square feet, but that's not always true, read the label color.

Fayette Sergeant Likes Job As Air Controller On Japan

A young U. S. Air Force sergeant from Fayette County likes his assignment as an air controller at the Misawa AFB in Japan so well that he just may go into that line of work as a civilian after his discharge in approximately one more year.

Sgt. Steven R. Jennings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jennings, U. S. 62-S, received a degree from the Miami-Jacobs Business College, Dayton, in preparation for a career in accounting and business administration in 1967, before he entered the service. But, he has written to his parents that he now is considering shifting to a vocation as an air controller with one of the commercial airlines.

In view of the shortage of air controllers and the proficiency he has gained through experience with the USAF in Japan, he feels there is great opportunity in this civilian field of work.

He was graduated from Miami Trace High School in 1964 and entered the Air Force upon completion of the course at Miami-Jacobs.

His proficiency as an air controller is attested by his selection as 'Squadron Airman of the Year' in 1969.

Misawa AFB is about 500 miles from Tokyo in the northern part of the main island of Japan.

The job of the air controller at the 475th Tactical Fighter Wing's base is active and hectic around the clock. Calls of every nature come in from everywhere in Japan.

The main responsibility of the controller centers on the runways, taxiways and flightline.

Out-of-country flights, such as those by cargo planes from the United States, must be cleared through customs before they land or depart.

Hand-Making Cloth

Mrs. James Baughn Sr., Palmer Rd., and Mrs. Everett Smith, 537 Columbus Ave., sisters, pursue their favorite hobby of weaving, spinning, making bobbin lace and macrame in their spare time. They became interested in this while attending various county fairs.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Baughn are both members of the Cincinnati Weaver's Guild and of the South Central Weaver's Guild of Columbus. Mrs. Baughn also is a member of the Indiana and Southern California Weaver's Guilds. She recently completed a two-week workshop at Mount St. Joseph College, Cincinnati and gave a demonstration at the Fayette County Fair.

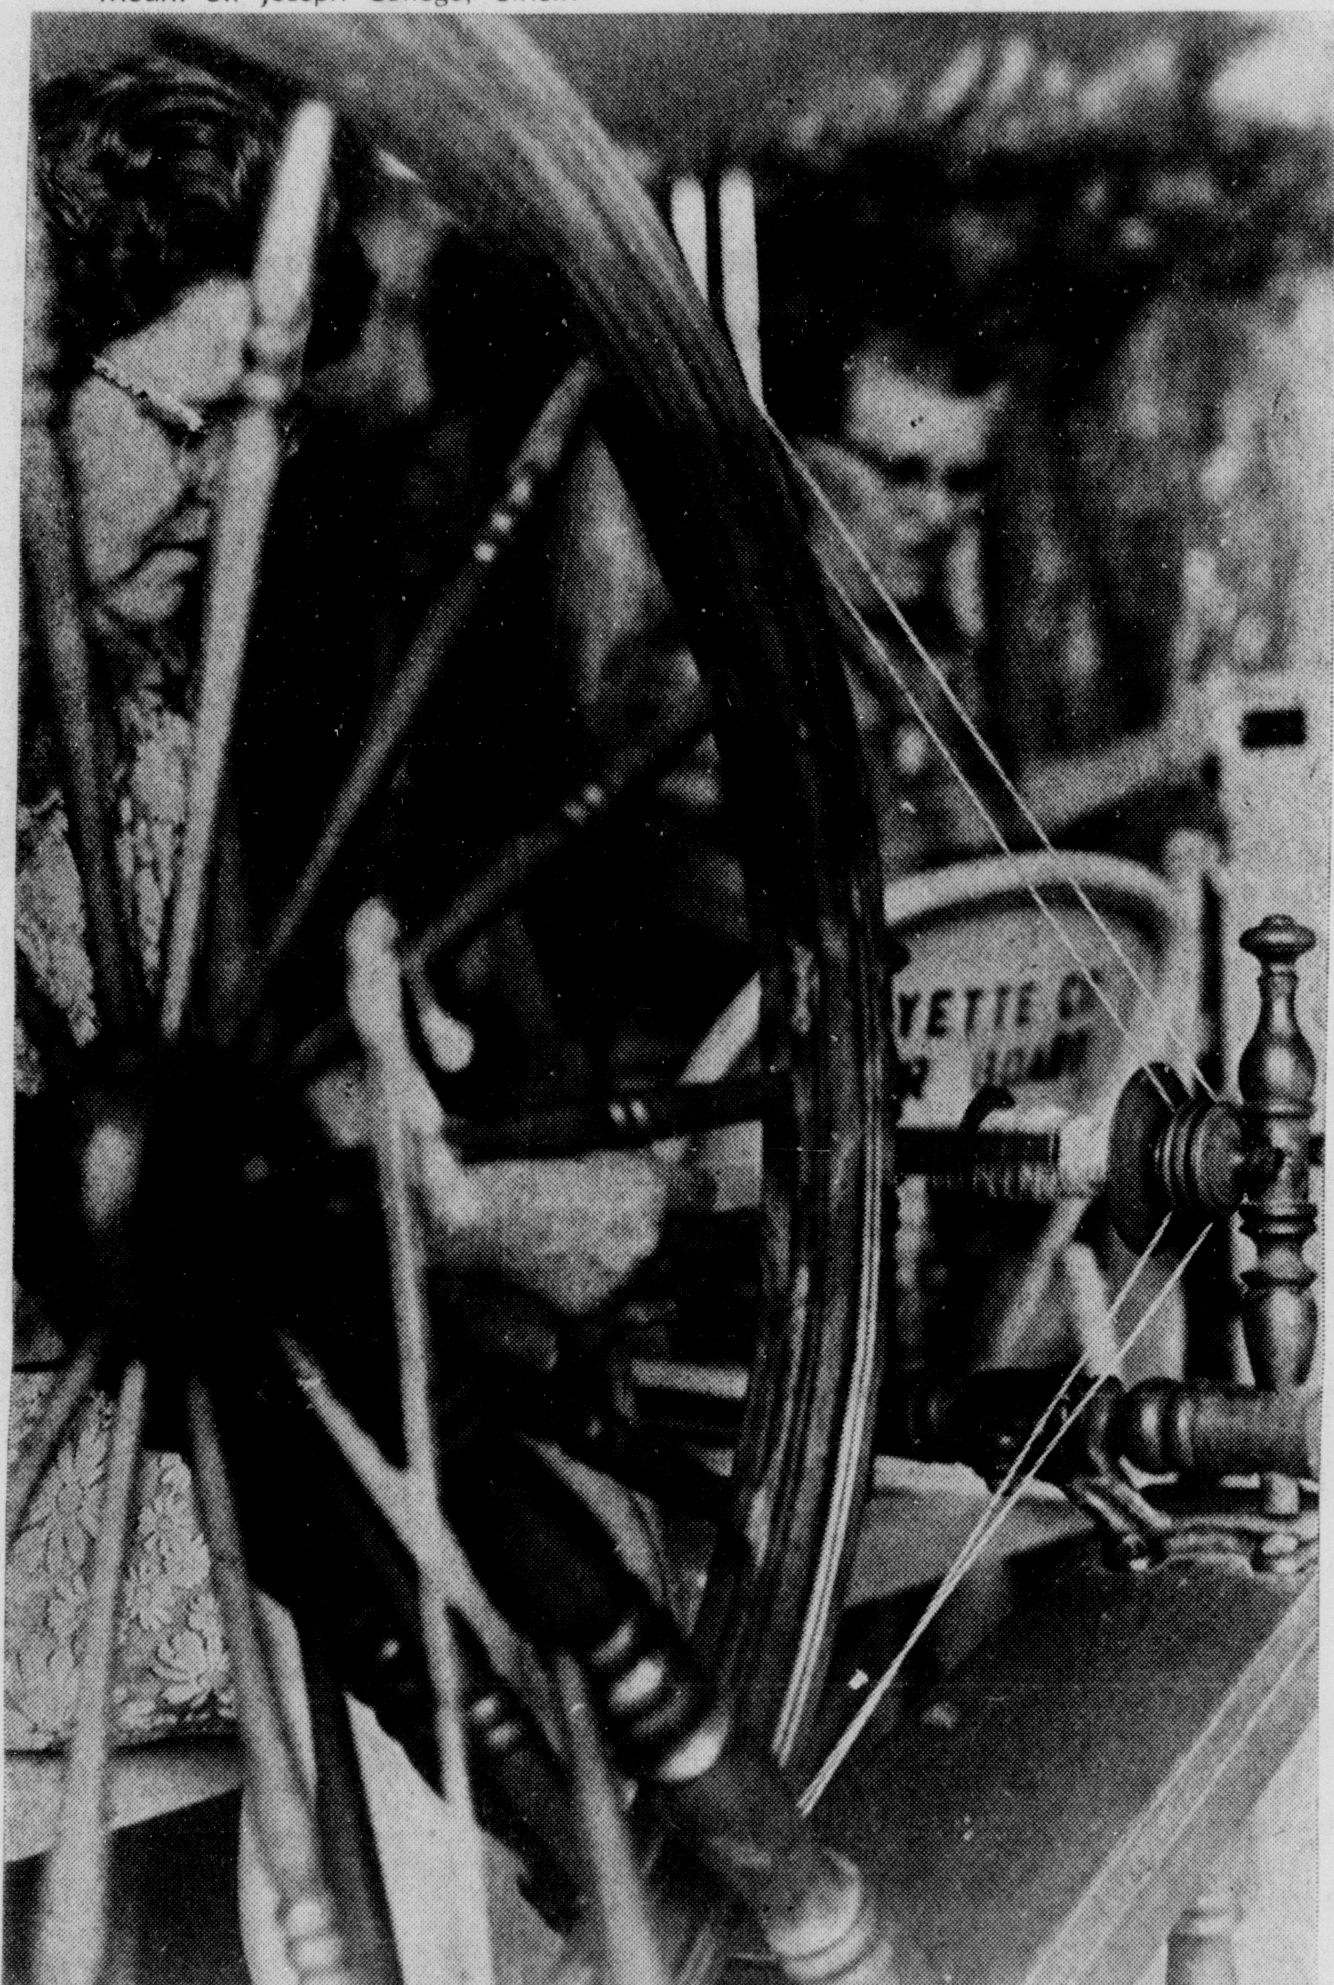

Mrs. Baughn has entered items in the Beaux Arts Show in Columbus four times, and will present workshops in Columbus, Cincinnati and Indiana this coming year. She is president of the Washington C. H. Arts and Crafts Club, which has been organized three years.

Fifteen of her hangings and a rug are now being displayed at a show in Columbus in German Village. A glass maker from North Carolina also is showing his works there.

Mrs. Baughn's first major project in weaving was making a carpet for her new home in 1952.

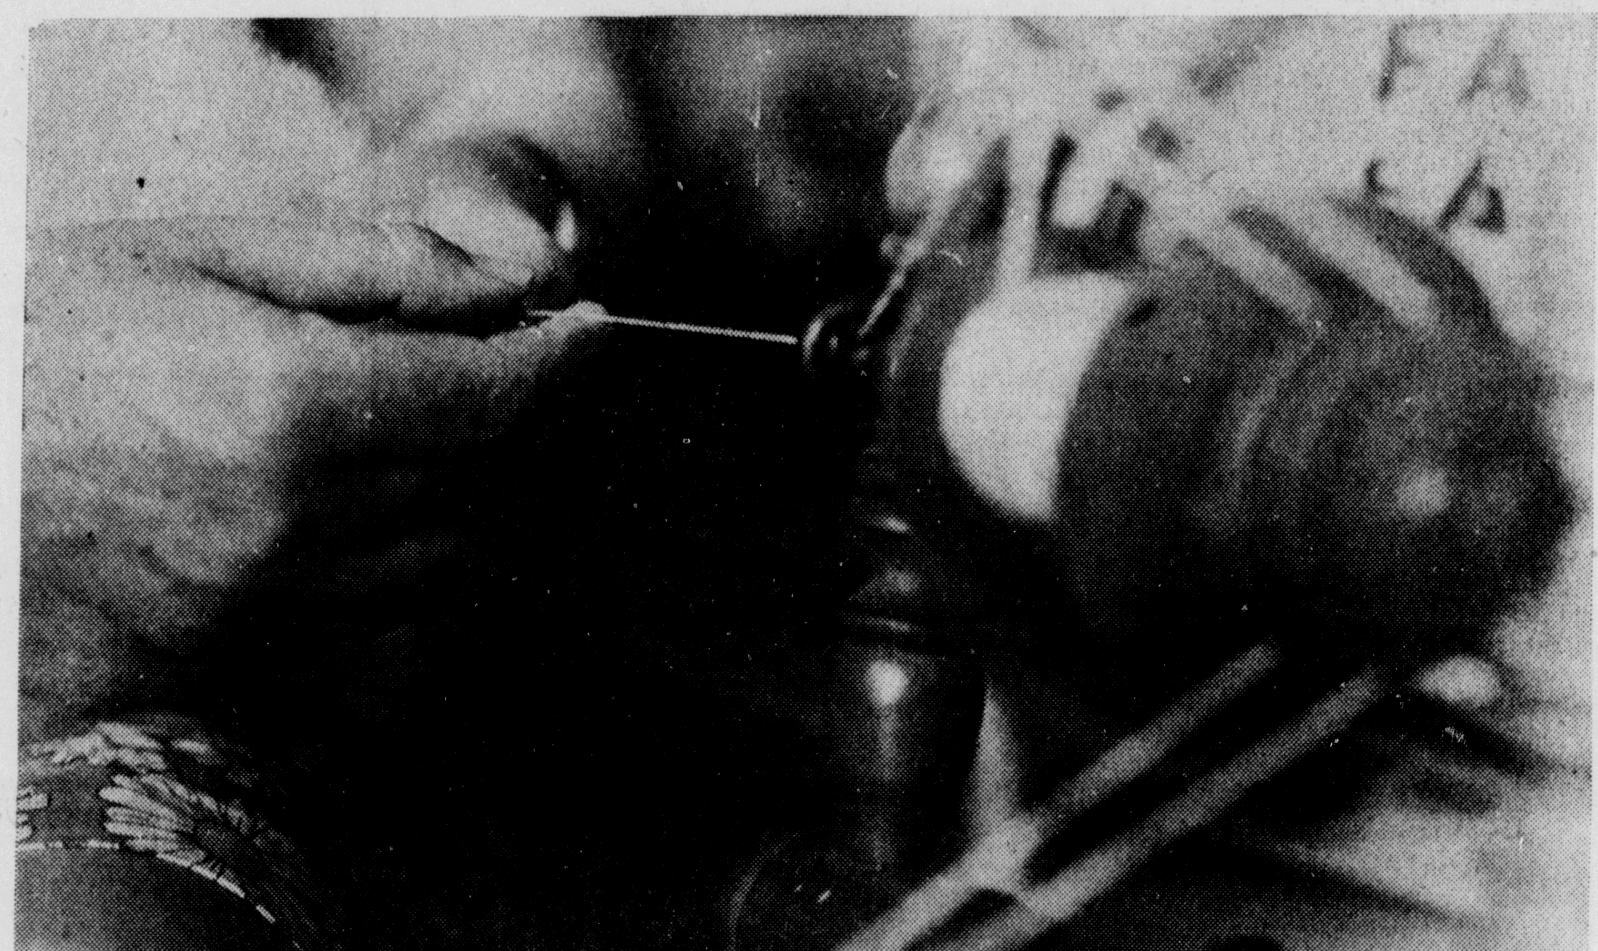

A continuous deep thumping noise is heard as the sheds of vertical threads are separated and the shuttle carrying the horizontal thread is hurled back and forth.

Raw wool is spun into a fine thread by the skilled hands of Mrs. Everett Smith. The large wheel, propelled by pedals, spins the small spool, which gathers and tightens the wool into thread. Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. James Baughn Sr. (background), is busy weaving the thread into cloth.

Hands carefully release the gathered raw wool to the spinning wheel spool which twists it into thread.

Mrs. James Baughn Sr. (standing) and Mrs. Everett Smith worked together to spin the thread and weave the cloth for this poncho. The poncho is made of raw wool collected from Mrs. Baughn's sheep.

The shuttle, handled by Mrs. James Baughn Sr., flies almost as fast as the eye can see to create a tight weave of cloth from the thread spun by Mrs. Everett Smith. The shuttle is passed through layers of vertical threads separated by the loom.

The weaving process is demonstrated by Mrs. James Baughn Sr. on her small portable loom. The treadles, or small pedals on the floor, separate the sheds, or layers of vertical thread, to permit the shuttle to pass between them. The screen-like device near her is a beater, used to force the horizontal threads tightly together after each passage of the shuttle.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From
WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON — In the aftermath of a particularly tragic and grueling year of violent confrontation on the college campuses, one presidential study on the subject has already been completed and another, the Commission on Campus Unrest, is in its early stages of investigation.

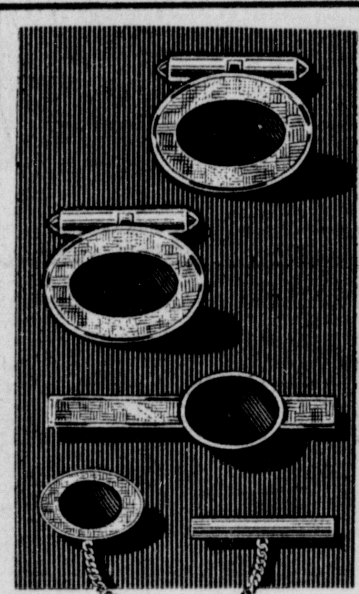

The first report, by Alexander Heard, chancellor of Vanderbilt University, has drawn criticism for its allegedly one-sided approach to the problem and for its somewhat vague and impractical recommendations for solving it.

Although it is a thorough and extensive dissertation on the problem of what I would call "the student versus the administration of federal government," the Heard report has passed over the responsibility of "the middle men," the college faculties and administrators, who often have a great deal of influence in fomenting and controlling violent confrontation in institutions of higher learning in America.

There are myriad factors involved in campus disturbances, and I believe it is essential to consider all of them: from the students, themselves, to the school administration policies on up to those of the Federal government.

HEARD'S REPORT levels most of the blame for student frustration and hostilities on the Nixon administration, citing particularly the involvement in Cambodia as the most salient reason for protest this past year. And while student opposition to the Cambodian operations may have been an immediate cause of campus unrest, there are many other underlying ones not necessarily connected with the activities of the federal government.

One in particular, the Communist movement in this nation, was completely ignored.

To blame the federal government entirely for the college campus problem is, as President Nixon recently commented, "very short-sighted."

The question is, in actuality, whether merely the cessation of American activities in Indochina and the alleviation of domestic problems at home would end campus unrest. As President Nixon pointed out in his July 30, 1970 press conference: "Once all those things are done, still the emptiness and the shallowness, the superficiality that many college students find in college curricula will still be there."

He went on to say that even if this is accomplished the problem of the sometimes unlawful and violent protest occurring on college campuses "is not a problem for government. We cannot solve it. It is a problem which college administrators and college faculties must face up to."

A college student himself has recently written a most elucidating article on this subject. In it, Douglas Hallet, editorial chairman of the "Yale Daily News" maintains that the universities must take primary responsibility for the confusion among many college students, claiming that they have "failed miserably" in the role of "preserving our past and passing along the best of it to the next generation."

University structures, Hallet maintains, have not changed much fundamentally since the Middle Ages. There is a duplicity among faculty members and administrators who lash out at the federal government's administrative inadequacies but do nothing to improve similar problems on their own university level. It is no wonder, Hallet comments, that students are confused.

IN HIS dissertation, Hallet does not whitewash the mistakes of the federal government, but he makes a strong point which bears repetition: "...no amount of frustration with society justifies or explains the destructive path some student protest has taken recently."

I think it is significant to note that the federal government, realizing and attempting to grasp the grave urgency of student unrest, is working toward making the necessary alterations in its structure to better include their views and needs in it.

Draft reforms, a particular grievance of the students, are directed toward the eventual formation of an all volunteer army. Economically, we are spending more this year on domestic needs than we are on defense, something we have not done for two decades.

Racial discrimination, urban renewal, environmental pollution and inefficient government agencies are all major national issues and the government has taken definite steps to improve and correct these conditions. They are problems, however, which have evolved over the years and ones which cannot be reversed overnight. Nor can they be resolved by violence and destruction of property.

I have in the past maintained that college faculties and administrations must assume their own responsibility in this process, and I believe it is time they as well as students make a concerted effort to do so.

Entries Top 200 In Car Show Here

More than 200 antique and classic cars lined both sides of Main Street for more than two blocks for the show that brought the fifth annual Old Fashioned Bargain Days to a close Saturday.

It was considered by many of the auto buffs as one of the best, if not the best, show of the year in Ohio.

Trophies were presented to the first, second and third placers in the 28 different categories. Phil Tatman and Kenneth Craig, who handled most of the planning, summed up their views with two words, "very successful."

The flea market, which occupied much of the sidewalk alongside the show was second only to those held monthly at the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Association show at the Fairground.

Floods Hit Carolinas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flash floods surged through sections of the Carolinas early today as a large mass of thunderstorms curved over the South and up into the Dakotas.

At least 7 inches of rain fell by 1 a.m. CDT today in portions of the western Carolinas, forcing many campers to flee camp sites to find shelter.

There were no reported injuries from the flash floods and little property damage, officials said.

Other areas blanketed by the thunderstorms received from 1 to 3 inches of rain.

Cool and dry conditions prevailed over most of the northern and eastern sections of the nation.

Early morning temperature extremes were 95 at Thermal and Blythe, Calif., and 48 at Kalispell, Mont.

Cloud Sets Grand Jury Testimony

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Editor Roger Cloud, who disclosed irregularities in state investment practices, was to testify today before a special grand jury investigating the money scandal.

Cloud was expected to discuss state audits of loans made by the School Employees Retirement System and the state treasurer's office.

The audits questioned $28.7 million worth of construction loans from SERS funds and revealed that the treasurer's office had exceeded by $12 million the $50 million limit in commercial investments.

Crofters, Inc., a money-finding firm, arranged the SERS loans and $22 million through the state treasury.

Also scheduled to testify today was Robert Gardner, former investment officer for Treasurer John D. Herbert.

Assistant Prosecutor John Peck said Herbert and state Sen. Robin Turner have been called to appear before the grand jury Tuesday or Wednesday, depending upon the length of testimony by Cloud and Gardner.

Although Cloud, Herbert and Turner were among Republican candidates receiving campaign contributions last spring from officers of Crofters, Peck has said he was calling them because of their official connections with SERS and the treasurer's office.

Cloud, Herbert and Turner are the GOP nominees for governor, attorney general and treasurer, respectively.

U.S. Taxpayer Financing Luxury Cruise Ships

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is paying as much as $400 per passenger in federal aid to finance luxury cruises aboard ocean liners to such exotic ports as Hong Kong, Tahiti, Jamaica and Bora Bora.

Even a bubbly New Year's Eve party aboard a ship cruising off the California coast is covered by the rich flow of federal aid.

The payments are part of a special subsidy to American passenger ships that has cost taxpayers an estimated $240 million over the past five years.

The aid was begun for national defense reasons before World War II. But now, Government records show the only passenger liners benefitting from the payments are 10 cruise ships sailing the South Pacific and the Caribbean.

Congress, fed with plush campaign contributions from both seamen's unions and the shipping industry, moved this year to expand the aid to more cruises.

The subsidies go mainly to pay the difference in the higher wages for American seamen as compared to the low-paid crews on foreign ships.

The aid can run as high as half the total cost of a cruise ship's voyage.

Cruise ships don't even need to go to a foreign port to get the government support. The S.S. President Wilson plans a three-day New Year's Eve "party cruise" off San Francisco this year, and a company, official says it will qualify for aid. The ship sailed to Mexico last New Year's Eve.

Shipping officials say that without this federal aid to pay their higher wage costs, they would be priced out of business and the privately owned American fleet would be certain to vanish from the seas.

The aid law makes keeping American ships sailing on overseas shipping routes a goal along with the national defense reasons.

The defense purpose of the payments seems outdated, government officials agree, in an era when a single jumbo jet can carry twice as many troops across the Atlantic in the same week it would take all cruise ships out of New York to cross the ocean.

"I don't know if it's necessary for national defense," concedes a Maritime Administration official. "But it keeps our flag at sea."

The government aid goes to both cargo vessels and the passenger ships. Because they have much larger crews, the passenger liners require much more aid per ship.

About $160 million a year is spent in federal aid for around 250 cargo ships sailing for American firms. Although far outnumbered by cargo ships, passenger liners' aid has amounted to nearly one-third the cargo cost.

The six passenger vessels sailing to the Caribbean and South America for Prudential-Grace Lines out of New York got $11 million in aid last year.

About $7 million went to the President Cleveland and the President Wilson on the Pacific routes out of San Francisco, and $6 million was paid to another set of sister ships, the Monterey and Mariposa, which also sail the South Seas.

The aid for these 10 cruise ships may be up this year, but the total spent for passenger liners should be down from the $50 million annual rate to perhaps $30 million because the number of ships has been shrinking. Seven have stopped sailing since 1968.

Congress passed virtually unnoticed this spring the law to ease the aid eligibility for the cruise ships. One section permits them to carry one-way passengers between American ports now without losing aid for doing so.

Ship owners are also giving an airing to a new idea to try to write into the law next year a flat guarantee of enough federal aid to insure that all cruise ships will break even—at the very least.

A source close to the House Merchant Marine Committee confirmed congressmen already have been talking informally about such a guarantee.

Key members of the House panel have been among the candidates getting big donations from committees for Seafarers International Union, which gave $500,000 to congressional and national campaigns in 1968.

The union is now under indictment for illegal campaign contributions. In another case, two shipping firms pleaded guilty in San Francisco in February to making illegal campaign contributions.

Wages for American seamen can run four times as high as the pay for foreign crews, a Maritime Administration official said. As a result, well over half of a merchant sailor's pay will come indirectly from the U.S. Treasury.

The government subsidy goes only to make up this difference in wages plus some lesser costs, such as insurance and American shipyard repairs. The liners get no help with fuel, pier fees, management or other costs.

But the wage subsidy for the President Cleveland and the President Wilson still topped half of the ships' total expenses last year, a company official said.

Cruise ships like these and the Santa Paula carry large crews, with almost one sailor or steward for every passenger. The Cleveland, for example, carries 390 persons and has 329 crew men.

The Prudential-Grace Lines, which carries considerable cargo on its cruise runs to pay much of the bills, hopes to break even on its two biggest ships this year. The Monterey and the Mariposa, owned by a subsidiary of Matson Lines, have been making a slight profit.

But the American President Lines reports losses of about $4 million on the Cleveland and Wilson last year. A company official said airline fares put a ceiling on the prices the ships can charge and force the losses despite the federal aid.

Don Ho Makes Money, But Has Little Leisure

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Waikiki commuter Don Ho has one of the sweetest deals in show business—$6.5 million for the next five years—but little time to enjoy it.

Don Ho is a low-key entertainer who could make Perry Como seem as nervous as Don Knotts. But there's a lot of wile and considerable talent in the easy-going performances for Hawaiian tourists.

Money, too.

Recently Cinerama, which has branched into the hotel business in Hawaii, announced a five-year contract with Ho that will pay him $24,500 per week eight months a year—or 12 months, if he chooses to stay at home instead of playing Las Vegas and other mainland spots.

Cinerama is so high on its new boy that it will build a million-dollar night club for him at the Reef Hotel on the beach at Waikiki.

"It's all kinda hard to believe," says Ho, "especially when you figure I was making $2,500 a week three years ago and paying the band out of that, too."

The Cinerama contract goes beyond singing "Pearly Shells" nightly for the visitors in the Aloha shirts.

"It also includes films and development projects," Ho said. "Cinerama will help promote my records, and will run a short film I'm making in its theaters. Not just here, but in theaters in Europe, where I'm known."

"I'm not too keen on doing a movie. Maybe I could do one where I'm not an actor. I might just do one movie and quit."

Ho was in Hollywood to record his next album, his first with such Hawaiian standards as "Sweet Leilani," "Blue Hawaii," "Beyond the Reef," etc. He has long eschewed such island trade marks in favor of newer, more pop Hawaiian tunes "Tiny Bubbles," "One Paddle, Two Paddle," etc.

"I waited until I could find someone who could give those old songs a kind of Bacharach feel," said the singer. His arranger is Don Costa, who has worked with Andy Williams and Frank Sinatra.

The recordings have to be done here—"there just aren't enough good musicians in Hawaii." That has meant regular flights on his Sunday off from Duke Kahanamouk, where he is finishing up his contract. Twenty times this year he has spent 24 hours in Hollywood, then has flown back for the Monday night show in Waikiki.

Blaze Damages Findlay Station

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — A fire that apparently started in a ceiling light fixture caused heavy damage to main control room facilities at WFIN radio Sunday, but the AM-FM station continued operating.

Shelter Drive Under Way

The Fayette County Humane Society is continuing its search for homes for pets and a shelter for animals.

At its last meeting a shelter committee composed of Herschel Mickle and Harold McCoy was appointed.

The society is seeking any building that would be donated or rented reasonably and which would be suitable for a shelter.

The society also is seeking a humane manner for destruction of animals.

Jean Mickle and Hazel Marchant were appointed to a ways and means committee of the society.

Contributions to the society for support of an animal shelter can be made by contacting any of the organization's members.

WSHS Schedules Orientation For New Sophomores

Students who will enter Washington Senior High School as sophomores for the coming term are to report at the WSHS gymnasium at 9 a.m. Friday, Aug. 21, for orientation. Principal Edwin Nestor announces.

After they are briefed on procedures, the sophomores will be given their schedules and then taken on a tour of the building by members of the Student Council.

Other students, who will enter the Senior High School Sept. 1 for the first time this year, may register at the principal's office any day during the week of Aug. 17-21. Students may request any necessary schedule changes that week also.

Juniors and seniors may pick up their schedules between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Aug. 24 and 25.

Nestor said any information concerning registration and schedules may be obtained at the principal's office (335-0820).

Here is a fine example of high-class defense. South got to four spades and West, who had listened attentively to the bidding, decided that East probably had a singleton or a void in diamonds. Accordingly, West chose a diamond as his opening lead.

Project Return Offers Hope For Addicts

ADDICTS' REHABILITATION — At Project Return, classes are held for about three hours every day. Three of the program's directors, Julio Martinez, Chris Maples and Carlos Pagan stand in the doorway during a lesson in economics.

By PEACE STERLING
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — In a small room, in a renovated old building, 12 people occupy two couches and a few chairs. Two flies buzz in the still air, but the group is too busy talking to notice.

A sign on the wall says, "Don't Quit."
"Liz, what's the matter with you this morning?" a boy begins.

"Nothing, I'm always like this," Fifteen-year-old Liz, chin in hand, sits against the wall. Her face is blank.

"No, you're just looking for an excuse to walk out on the streets."

Another boy breaks in. "You know Liz, I identify with you, but you gotta take all that slime out of you. We all did messed up things out in the streets, but here we ought to be able to talk to each other."
Liz doesn't answer.

CHRIS MAPLES, assistant director of Project Return breaks in.

"Liz, man, you've got 100 reasons why you don't want to do anything. Can you be honest

"That was a good one today — not as harsh as it sounded — and it's nothing to get uptight about. The sessions are to point out to the trainees their faults and the problems that led them to dope."

"We show them that we care," he continued, pointing to a wall and a framed quotation from Khalil Gibran: "To wake at dawn and give thanks for another day of loving."

It's a tough kind of love, but love nevertheless that is the keynote of the house.

"WHEN AN addict comes in here, the only thing he knows is how to use drugs," Maples explained. "His only responsibility is to his habit. We show him the other things he can do if he wants. The things he learns here, he'll take out into his life with him forever."

Project Return was opened in January, 1970, by Julio Martinez and Carlos Pagan, both ex-addicts. It operates under the direction of New York City's Addiction Services Agency. Martinez is area director and Pagan is director.

"It's a 24-hour-a-day job," Pagan said. "But I was an addict for 15 years, so I know how important it is to be here. If you're gonna be a father, you gotta be a good one."

Pagan said he started taking drugs when he was "a skinny Puerto Rican kid, just to be part of the group." Now he's not so skinny and his face glows with enthusiasm.

"If a kid messes up, I talk to him, and get mad at him, but I won't throw him out," Pagan continued. "It comes down to taking chances with them, but it's worth it."

PROJECT RETURN, the directors explained, uses a unique approach to the treatment of addicts. Basically it is a variation on the therapeutic communities (which replaced jails or mental hospital treatment for addicts).

Such therapy centers traditionally have been structured as round-the-clock communities which take from one to three years to return the addict to society.

"We at Project Return," Maples said, "think it can be done in from six months to a year. We're sure that we have highly motivated people here because before they're even accepted into the program, they have to go through a three-week induction period, in which they have no privileges. After that, they become part of the family."

The program is a live-in, live-out community, meaning that although overnight arrangements may be made for a few trainees to spend nights there, the directors like for as many as possible to go back out into the community.

There are about 37 trainees in the program, both boys and girls, ages from 15 to 30. Nilsa Rivera, a petite 27-year-old is in charge of the girls. She speaks softly about the special problems women addicts have to face.

"It's stronger towards the negative for them," she explained. "It takes longer for a woman to put prostitution, abortions and all the habits of the street behind her. The girls have to start trusting again."

THE TREATMENT is structured on three points: education, with the trainees in classes for about three hours every day, working towards a high school equivalency exam; therapy, work and handicrafts; and re-entry, helping the trainees get back to the community and helping them find jobs if necessary.

The group at Project Return was channeled there from New York's Community Orientation and where he has to stay for a period varying from three weeks to several months, depending on each case.

In the short time since Project Return was opened, there already has been one graduate and the directors say several more trainees are almost ready to leave. Although the success of the program will take longer to evaluate, the directors are hopeful — and happy about their methods.

Pagan, thoughtful for a moment, shook his hair out of his face and said, "You know something, maybe even for the so-called squares, this kind of community could be good, because we all have problems. These are human beings with

Criticism Of Food To Grow In Future

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Recent criticism of the foods we eat are probably only a prelude of things to come. Man is increasingly experimenting with what goes into his stomach, and if that cavity doesn't always rebel the mind sometimes does.

Cereals, additives and preservatives have been attacked recently by the Federal Drug Administration. "Nader's Raiders" and ordinary citizens. And while little has been proven, suspicions have been aroused permanently.

Now look at the potential for controversy that lies ahead because man has not been content with or has been unable to prepare and distribute, his food in its natural state.

There are:

- 30 preservatives to keep food fresh.
- 28 antioxidants to retard breakdown of fats and oils—to keep food from becoming rancid.
- 44 sequestrants to separate minute elements which might interfere with food processing.
- 31 stabilizers to keep food at uniform, smooth texture.
- 85 surfactants, or wetting agents, which allow two surfaces of food ingredients to come together in a mixture.

That's only the beginning. Food science is one of the most rapidly growing disciplines, forced ahead by knowledge of 10,000 deaths a day from malnutrition, and spurred by the potential for making foods tastier or more nutritious or more profitable.

More than 2,000 of the world's top-ranked food and nutrition experts, now in Washington for the Third International Congress of Food and Science and Technology, are talking about strange possibilities for the future.

—The use of ocean plants, including algae, seaweed, plankton and tiny sea vegetables—whole food, you might say. Such foods are considered the most promising raw materials not now used by humans.

—The production of fish protein concentrates, or proteins from other sources such as plant leaves and micro-organisms that have been fed on petroleum products.

—Meat analogs, or products that resemble meat in flavor, appearance and texture. Such foods already are being made, mainly from soybeans.

—Conversion of cellulose starch into food, and the conversion of waste products—animal blood, for example—into protein-rich foods.

—Development of chemicals to help prevent losses in the growing, processing and preserving of foods. Insects, for example, are said to destroy $4 billion of the world's crops annually.

Quite understandably, the food experts have decided on "The Science of Survival" as the theme of their meeting, because perpetuation of the species, much of which is in trouble, is the loftiest goal of their calling.

According to the food congress, 300 million children in less developed nations will reach maturity retarded because of insufficiency of diet during early school years.

To work toward improving so horrid a record is a noble thing, but some critics will be provided with plenty of food for adverse criticism, rightly or wrongly, by figures that show the noblest goal is only one of many.

The critics, that is, will be asking if it is necessary for Americans to swallow three pounds of additives a year or increase consumption of artificial sweeteners from 250,000 pounds in 1955 to 21 million pounds in 1969.

Do such practices, they ask, really help the species to survive. Or do they endanger it?

TV Viewing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of television's most attractive father images is played by a determined bachelor: Bill Bixby.

With 11 new episodes of "The Courtship of Eddie's Father" already completed, Bixby sailed into the ABC studio commissary, still disturbed by a scene he had just finished.

"I just hit Brandon for the first time," Bixby said with tragic emphasis, referring to 8-year-old Brandon Cruz who plays his son Eddie. "It was important that I give him a good belt on the bottom. Tears sprang into his eyes and he said, 'You don't love me.'"

"I think it is very important that other kids have a chance to see what parents go through when they have to punish them."

During the ABC series' first season, the relationship between the widower father and his son—between Bixby and Brandon—made the difference between a routine situation comedy and a warm often touching relationship. One result is that Bixby has heard opinions on parenthood from many—youth and old.

"When I go out on the beach at Malibu, it's like I'm a Pied Piper, the way kids flock around. They don't touch, they just follow," he said.

"I get fascinating mail and I read every line of it. From kids from 5 to high school. Even college students. One guy stopped me in a parking lot to tell me he and his son never really had much communication. But now they go into a room alone together to watch my show. The wife and the daughter watch it, too, but in another room.

"And after it's over, they have a question and answer period, just the two of them."

As Bixby paused to attack a medium-rare hamburger, Brandon bounced up to the table and hurled himself against Bixby's arm, talking excitedly about a trip in a camper he will take with his real family during the show's approaching hiatus.

"For six months before we started the series, Brandon and I spent a lot of time together, just becoming friends," Bixby said after the boy left. "I didn't want to try for a father relationship, just friends."

On camera and off, Bixby wears a little golden charm on a chain around his neck. It is a replica of a small hand being held in a larger one—"Eddie's hand inside my hand, because we all wanted to have something relating to this special thing."

NBC has lowered the boom on its daytime "Life with Linkletter" after less than a year's run.

The theory didn't work in execution and at the end of September the program will be replaced by "Words and Music," a game show starring Wink Martindale.

The Turks are the biggest consumers of cereal products.

The Alamo is a Franciscan mission house built about 1722. It was used after 1793 on occasions as a fort and was renamed Fort Alamo.

Your Horoscope

The Stars Say—By ESTRELLITA

For Tomorrow

STARS indicate a more or less routine day; also the possibility of having to revise some of your previous plans. In personal relationships, listen carefully to what the other fellow has to say. Persons born under some Signs may be rather preoccupied now and their statements may be somewhat on the vague side. Don't jump to unfair conclusions.

For The Birthday

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, as of now, it would be advisable to take the initiative in advancing your interests—especially in career matters—since, within three weeks you will enter an excellent 3-month planetary cycle during which aspects will be fine for achievement. Use all of your innate imagination and enthusiasm, therefore, in promoting your best ideas and ferreting out new opportunities to get ahead since gains achieved by Nov. 30 will spark still further progress during January, March and June.

Where finances are concerned, stars promise a most generous period for increasing assets during the last three months of 1970; also during March, May and June. It will be important that you manage conservatively, however. Do not look to profit through speculation—especially during early September, early October and late November. And do avoid extravagance during the latter half of this month and during the first two weeks in April, when some unforeseen demands may be made upon your resources.

Personal relationships will also play an important role in your life during the next 12 months, so it would be a good thing to enlarge your circle of acquaintances—which you will have many opportunities for doing—especially through travel and social activities—during the next two weeks, in September, February, May and June. Most propitious periods for romance: The balance of this month, October, late December, next March, May and June.

A child born on this day will be endowed with unusual versatility and a vivid imagination; could especially succeed in literature, the theatre or statesmanship.

Rains Contribute To Accident Toll

Heavy rains which struck Fayette County over the weekend sent the traffic accident toll skyward. City police and Fayette County sheriff's deputies investigated a total of 14 mishaps in which three persons were injured.

Damage was estimated at more than $5,000 to 24 vehicles involved. Officers charged a total of seven drivers with traffic law infractions, including two for driving while under the influence of alcohol.

The most serious accident occurred at 12:25 a.m. Sunday on Ohio 41 at Beatty Road, about 10 miles south of Washington C. H.

Sheriff's deputies said Howard M. Freshour, 21, of Lyndon, lost control when he became ill and fell unconscious behind the wheel of his 1963 model car. It ran off the left side of the road, struck four large wood posts and a utility pole junction box.

Freshour, who suffered severe lacerations of the left foot and leg, was admitted to Greenfield Municipal Hospital. His car was demolished.

AT 10:50 A.M. Sunday at the Dayton-Oakland Avenue intersection, cars driven by Stanley T. Henderson, 60, of Fairborn, and Lee Chenault, 38, of Chillicothe were involved in a rear-end collision.

Officers said Loretta Chenault, 32, a passenger in her husband's car, suffered a whiplash injury in the collision. Damage was estimated at $25 to Henderson's 1968 model and $200 to the Chenault car. Henderson was charged by police with failure to stop within an assured clear distance.

The only other injury mishap occurred at 12:45 p.m. Sunday on Ohio 41-N at Halliday's curve. A northbound 1964 model car driven by Richard A. Allen, 34, of Xenia, failed to negotiate the curve and damaged six rods of board fence owned by Carroll Halliday. The car was demolished.

Allen, who suffered abrasions of both arms and was treated at Fayette Memorial Hospital, was arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless operation. The Sheriff's Department made the investigation.

CHARLES C. PYLE, 63, of 712 S. Main St., was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and reckless operation following a two-car collision at 7:30 p.m. Sunday on S. Fayette Street.

Police said Pyle's southbound 1965 model car struck a parked car in front of the Fayette Street Market, causing a total of $300 damage to the two cars. The other vehicle involved is owned by Robert King, 53 1/2 Third St.

Officers said Pyle left the scene of the accident, but called the police station after he arrived home.

At 11:33 a.m. Sunday on N. Fayette Street near Temple Street, Louise Armentrout, 63, Rt. 1, Xenia, pulled her car from a parking place and struck another car operated by Robert L. Seaman, 28, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg. Damage was estimated at $200 to Mrs. Armentrout's car and $250 to Seaman's. Mrs. Armentrout was cited for starting her vehicle without safety.

Failure to stop within an assured clear distance was charged by city police in a two-car collision at 9:28 a.m. Sunday on Lakeview Avenue at Mulberry Street. Cited was Mariellen Dwyer, 50, of 434 E. Paint St., whose car struck one operated by Randy Joe Lane, 26, Rt. 3, Washington C. H. Total damage was estimated at $605.

THE SAME charge was filed by sheriff's deputies against Larry E. Collins, 18, Rt. 1, New Holland, following a two-car accident on U. S. 22-E at Hess Road at 4:05 p.m. Sunday.

Officers said Collins' car struck one driven by Charles E. Wood, 26, of 514 Comfort Lane, causing a total of $875 damage.

John F. Buck, 50, of Gahanna, also was cited by sheriff's deputies for failure to yield the right of way after a two-car collision at 12:20 p.m. Sunday on Hickory Lane, one mile north of Washington C. H.

Officers said Buck pulled from a private driveway into the path of a car operated by James W. Bennett Jr., 18, of 505 E. Elm St. Damage was listed at $400 to the Bennett car and $200 to Buck's.

THE STATE Highway Patrol investigated a single-car crash at 4:20 p.m. Sunday on U. S. 35, 1.4 miles east of Ohio 729. The driver involved was Charles E. Cotter, 45, of Union, who lost control of his 1968 model car while attempting to avoid a collision with the rear of a camper trailer.

His car went off the left side of the road, narrowly missing an approaching semi truck, and crashed into a fence owned by Alfred Hagler. No citation was issued.

OTHER area accidents, which occurred over the weekend involving property damage only, included:

Saturday, 9:52 a.m., a parked car owned by Glenn Morrow, Jeffersonville, rolled unattended and struck a parked car owned by Hazel E. Beatty, Rt. 4, in the 100 block of N. Hinde St. Total damage was $200.

Sunday, 5:24 p.m., Cars driven by Teresa K. Snyder, 19, of 915 E. Paint St., and Thomas K. Riley, 35, Ohio 41-S, collided at Elm Street and Highland Avenue. Damage was listed at $70.

Sunday 5:30 p.m., A car owned by Willis Cartwright, Jeffersonville Rd., was struck by a hit-and-run vehicle while parked in Buckeye Mart parking lot. Damage was listed at $150.

Sunday, 5:31 p.m., a car driven by Timothy A. Rittenhouse, 19, Rt. 3, Sabina, struck the rear of a pickup truck driven by Frederick W. Rieman, 38, of Springfield, at the Dayton-Van Deman Street intersection. Damage was estimated at $100.

Sunday, 1:45 p.m., Nancy Lee Taylor, 24, Rt. 1, Bloomingburg, backed her car and struck another owned by Walter F. Rice 27, Mount Sterling, while both were in the Sea-store parking lot. Damage was minor.

Christman Appointed To League Committee

City Manager Clarence A. Christman has been appointed to the legislative committee of the Ohio Municipal League.

The league is supported by cities and villages and serves as a source of research and information for its members and as a lobby in the Ohio General Assembly.

WINNING BID — A winning bid of $3,010.49 in sales slips was made by Debbie Early, Rt. 3, and John Ater, 815 S. Main St., for the 1960-model station wagon auctioned off Saturday night as part of the Old Fashioned Bargain Days activities. Debbie started the bidding on the car and was joined by John who added his sales slips to her's. As the bidding continued, friends gave them additional slips. The stack of sales slips became so large that the final count was postponed until Monday morning when an adding machine could be used to tabulate them. D. E. Marsteller, executive vice president, accepts the slips for the Merchants' Association of the Washington C. H. Area Chamber of Commerce.

Bargain Days Big Success

The Washington C. H. business district was back to modern again Monday after four Old Fashioned Bargain Days last week.

Evidence of the success of this fifth annual event is the result of the auction of 31 articles of merchandise contributed by the participating merchants, plus a 1960 Ford Falcon station wagon, Saturday night on the Courthouse lawn.

The purchases were made with sales receipts from the participating merchants. Since no money was involved in the purchases, buyers bid well above the retail prices for everything.

Gary Walker, chairman of this phase of the event, estimated at least $10,000 (in sales receipts) were paid for the merchandise and more than $3,000 for the car.

This, he noted, is evidence that Old Fashioned Bargain Days sales to only about 500 of the purchasers at the auction amounted to more than $15,000. And, it was pointed out, only a small portion of the hundreds of purchasers, who took advantage of the four days of bargains, were at the auction.

ALSO SUPPORTING the comments by the merchants that the event was "fantastic," "terrific," "tremendous" was the book sale by the American Association of University Women which totaled $144 — that's a lot of used books at 10 cents each. The proceeds go into the AAUW scholarship fund.

The other feature of the final day Saturday was the antique and classic car show, which many of the old car buffs said was one of the best in the state this year. More than 200 vintage vehicles lined Main Street for more than two blocks north of Court Street.

The flea market, which was spread out along the Courthouse lawn wall on Main Street was second only to those held monthly at the Fairground.

Old Fashioned Bargain Days opened Wednesday with bargains galore in the stores, but the most colorful part of the four-day event was Friday and Saturday when merchandise was offered on the sidewalks by clerks in old fashioned dress. Court, Main and Fayette streets were crowded from early until late both days by bargain hunters picking out what they wanted on a self-serve basis.

Old Fashioned Bargain Days opened Wednesday with a bike and trike parade by around 50 youngsters. PTA and PTO groups staged an all-day carnival Thursday and the Kiwanis Club held an old fashioned ice cream social on the Courthouse lawn Friday, the first of the two days of sidewalk sales.

The Memorial Hospital Auxiliary conducted a bazaar Saturday.

John Ater, 815 S. Main St., and Debbie Early, Rt. 3, pooled their sales receipts to get the station wagon. They had sales slips representing more than $3,000 which were counted at the Area Chamber of Commerce office Monday morning.

The auctioneers were Frank Weade and Eddie Cockerill and they had some help by two volunteers, Willard Browder and Hubert Watson.

Board Eyes Subdivision Requirements

Subdivision requirements and the replacement of the Blue Road bridge in Paint Township were discussed Monday morning by the Fayette County Board of Commissioners.

County Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant met with commissioners to review requirements for development of subdivisions.

Sanitation facilities and roads in the subdivisions were among the subjects reviewed. No action was taken.

Paint Township trustees met briefly with the commissioners to request replacement of the Blue Road bridge. They requested that the bridge, presently one lane, be replaced with a double-lane span.

The rest of the morning was described by Commissioner Chairman Robert Fichthorn as a "discussion session." Finances and other county problems were reviewed.

The invention of television was not an act, but a process of successive and inter-dependent discoveries.

Loading-Unloading Regulations Top Council's Agenda

Loading and unloading regulations for the downtown business section will be the main topic of consideration at a City Council session Wednesday night.

Four ordinances will be presented to Council for consideration. One of the ordinances would prohibit stopping or standing of vehicles near intersections of Court Street.

The other three ordinances to be presented are alternate ways of dealing with mid-block loading and unloading.

One of the ordinances would eliminate all double parking in the business area for loading and unloading. The second ordinance would permit the double parking on all streets and the third ordinance would eliminate the mid-block double parking on Court Street but permit it on the other downtown streets.

A resolution awarding the sale of street repaving bonds also will be sought Wednesday night. The bids for the $288,600 bonds will be opened at noon Wednesday.

Union Township trustees will hold a joint meeting with Council to review the quarterly report of Washington-Union Cemetery prepared by John Spangler, superintendent.

Repaving, Bridge Work Under Way

Resurfacing of the Bloomingburg-New Holland Road west of Miami Trace High School and construction of a Post Road bridge will continue this week, according to County Engineer Charles P. Wagner.

An attempt will be made to complete the two projects before school starts, according to Wagner.

A shortage of cement has slowed work on the Post Road bridge, Wagner said.

Every effort will be made to have the concrete span opened for school buses if the material arrives, he said.

County crews also will be sealing roads in Concord and Paint townships during the week.

State Highway Department crews, under the direction of Superintendent Gene McLean, will be moving weeds, berming and doing general maintenance work this week.

City crews will be removing tree limbs and branches blown down by high winds over the weekend. The city crews also will be cleaning streets and catch basins, according to Howard Annon, superintendent.

National Guard May Pull Out Of Lima Today

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — National Guard officials were waiting to see if Lima remained calm today before deciding when to pull out 500 troops.

Funeral services and a mourners' march were planned today for Christine Rick, 45, the Negro woman whose death touched off rioting Wednesday night.

She was shot by police after reportedly grabbing the gun of a patrolman who was arresting a youth.

Police reported the city was quiet over the weekend.

Mayor Christian P. Morris lifted a dusk-to-dawn curfew Saturday night, but a state of emergency, including a ban on carrying weapons of any sort, remained in effect.

Heavy Rainfall 'Mixed Blessing' In Fayette Area

It truly was a "million-dollar rain," according to Al Baxter, area Extension agronomist, but the unexpected soaker in central and southern Ohio Sunday took its toll in utility service.

With the weather man predicting Saturday that the weekend would be "fair and mild", a low pressure system which had been hovering over the Mississippi Valley shifted eastward during the early morning hours Sunday and the trough brought a 11-day precipitation which measured 1.29 inches in Washington C. H. and as much as 2.56 inches at Parrott Station, seven miles to the north.

The Extension office said that the steady downpour helped corn, soybeans, pasture and standing hay, although most of the corn is beyond the stage where soaking rain is a major factor.

ON THE MINUS side was the extensive trouble experienced by the Dayton Power and Light Co. and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. Fred James, DP&L electric manager, said approximately 200 customers had outages caused by wind and tree damage to lead-in lines. Crews worked until mid-morning Monday to restore service.

Ohio Bell's principal problems were in Washington C. H., Bloomingburg and Jeffersonville where approximately 60 customers were affected. While there was no lightning factor, brisk southeast winds downed a number of trees and limbs, and rain drowned out several cables. Phone crews were expected to work throughout the day.

There was an extensive power outage in the South Charleston area where several transformers were knocked out by the wind and rain.

Limbs and a few lines littered streets and highways across Fayette County, disrupting traffic for short periods. Fallen trees and limbs temporarily disrupted traffic at the following Washington C. H. locations: Market and Hinde streets, Willard Street, Temple Street between Bereman and Walnut streets, the 300-block of E. Paint Street, Elm and North streets and Main Street at Circle Avenue.
